BEHAVIORAL COVENANT FOR RETREAT GROUPS

Our mission begins with the words “bringing people together.” Since the emergence of Covid-19, we have to think more intentionally about how we bring people together. Every camp guest has different, sometimes invisible, risk factors. And every camp guest has a different tolerance for risky behavior. When in doubt, we choose to err on the side of love. As a part of loving one another as Christ loves us, we hereby covenant to respect one another and to model Christian hospitality:

- I agree not to come to the camp property
 - if I am sick, particularly with any symptoms of Covid-19
 - if I am awaiting results of a Covid-19 test (or if anyone in my household is awaiting results)
 - if I believe I have been exposed to someone with Covid-19 (or its symptoms)
- I agree to wash/disinfect my hands upon arriving at camp and frequently throughout my stay
- While on camp property, I agree to remain at least 6 feet apart from people who do not live in my household, including other retreat guests, camp staff, and volunteers. I agree not to hug, shake hands, high five, or have other physical contact with people from outside my household, including others in my retreat group.
- I agree to wear a face covering
 - whenever I am indoors, except when sleeping or showering
 - whenever I cannot safely maintain a 6-foot distance
 - whenever a staff member or camp guest requests that I do so
- I agree to follow all directions and conditions from the Site Staff, including
 - staying in established cohorts or small groups
 - remaining only in the areas designated for my use
 - following ventilation guidelines
- I agree to supervise at all times any minor children I have brought with me, and will help them adhere to these guidelines as is age-appropriate. Children must be within eyesight at all times.
